Guide to Making a Return

Returns are due on seed sown for combinable crops, cover crops and bird cover. If you did not use any Farm Saved Seed please tick declaring a Nil Return.

Returns and payment dates for seed sown:

- sown June to December are due by 31st January
- sown January to June are due by 30th June

We may invoice you based on a Processor's declaration – Royalty is due on all seed sown whether processed / cleaned or not. You can accept the invoice based on the processor's return as your declaration if you are satisfied it reflects your Farm Saved Seed use.

Please note that if you process or apply dressing to your own seed you must register with the PVDO as a Processor (please contact us for a form).

If you have sown a mixture of varieties, please return the quantity of each variety sown separately. If you harvested a mixture of varieties and saved it for seed, declare the quantity of seed sown in the original ratio the varieties were sown in together for the first time. This is to ensure all plant breeders get their fair share of monies paid.

Hybrid Varieties cannot legally be used as farm saved seed without the breeder's consent, regardless of end use.

Farm-saved seed payments become due at the point of sowing and all FSS use must be declared on time, regardless of the outcome or use of the crop. The quantity of seed sown is the basis for payment – seeding rate is irrelevant.

FSS rules apply whether chemical plant protection products are applied or not.

You must use either certified seed purchased from a licensed seed merchant or farm-saved seed produced on your own holding.

If your farm size is less than 12 ha in total, please submit the return, but no payment is required.

Compliance Checks

Compliance with all seed related legislation is enforced to support the work of plant breeders and their agents in developing new varieties to improve yield, disease resistance and mitigate the loss and reduction in chemical inputs required now and into the future.

The PVDO will audit annually a number of farmers to ensure compliance with the requirement to declare and return royalties on any use of their own Farm Saved Seed. Farmers using uncertified Seed will also be required to produce evidence of purchase of the original certified foundation seed from previous years. Alternatively, if farm saved seed is not used then the farmer must hold proof of use of certified seed for areas declared to tillage.

Please note that penalties will be enforced against any farmer who fails to comply their statutory obligations to respond to this letter, self-declare and return royalties to the PVDO on the use of Farm Saved / Uncertified Seed on their farms. Penalties for non-compliance range from a €5,000.00 fine, to collection of up to 4 times the full rate of the royalty and/or investigation by the Department of Agriculture, Food and the Marine or other official bodies.

Personal data will only be used or shared with necessary parties in line with our protection policy in relation to the collection of monies owed to plant breeders or their agents as a result of the evasion of royalties or illegal seed practices. These include but are not limited to; The Department of Agriculture, Food & The Marine, appointed debt collection agencies, legal professionals or law enforcers.
